METHODIST SUNDAY-SCHOOL SOCIETY AND BROAD-STREET METHODIST SCHOOL ANNITEGRARY.—The regular monthly meeting of his Society was held in connection with the anniversary of Broad-Street Methodist Sunday School at Broad-Street church, Sunlay afternoon at 4 o'clock—A. L. West (preident) in the chair; C. P. Rady secretary.
The meeting was opened with singing by stroad-Street school and prayer by Rev. W.
Start.

Broad-Street school and prayer by Rev. W. G. Statr.

Mr. W. P. Turber, superintendent of Broad-Street school, submitted his annual report, which makes an excellent exhibit of the workings of the school for the past twelve months. The roll of the school is now 8 officers, 24 teachers, 174 scholars—being an increase during the year of 26. The average attendance for the year was 77 per cent.; 47 per cent. of the roll are members of the church; 43 scholars were converted and advanced to the church during the past year; 870 volumes in library, being an increase of 254 during the year. The school has a Dorcaa society for the purpose of clothing the indigent scholars. He paid a just tribute to the punctuality, discipline, and studious habits of the teachers and scholars generally.

and studious habits of the teachers and scholars generally.

The President then introduced the following exercises, which were well rendered:
"Over the River," by Florence Franklin;
"I'm a Little Girl, you see," by Mary Willis, only six years old; "Song of the Angels," by Charlie Anderson; Decorating the Cross with the word "Immanuel," by eight little girls—Mabel Page, Little Briggs, Ella Williams, May Allen, Carrie Gregory, Lelia Robinson, Claudia Selden, Fannie Starr. A large cross, decorated with evergreens and flowers, had been prepared, and these children, each furnished with a letter wrought in flowers, representing the word "Immanuel," stepped forward and recited a passage of Scripture as the letter was placed on the cross, ure as the letter was placed on the cross, made a beautiful exercise.

Rev. R. N. Siedd then addressed the meeting—subject, "Immanuel—God with us." He congratulated the school on its success during the past year, and referred in very complimentary terms to the exercises of the occasion. He said the name "Immanuel" deserved to be wrought in immortelles and wreathed in evergreens, for it was to the world the pledge of salvation. He urged all the children to come to the Saviour, and find in Him comfort, guidance, strength, and final salvation. The address was full of earnestness and fervent appeal, and well calcuted to do good. Rev. W. G. Starr, pastor of Broad-Street nd, I. D. Briggs, Jr., D'Arcy Par. pike were also destroyed. ham. Junius Strickland. Mr. Starr then addressed the scholars who had received prizes, commending them for diligence in performing the duties de-volved upon them as Sunday-school scholars hat a grand international centennial Sun-ay-school celebration would be held in the June: and, on motion of Rev. W. G. Starr, Mr. Asa Søyder, ex-president of this Society, was appointed a delegate to represent this Society in that celebration. The president closed the exercises with appropriate congratulatory remarks.

The next meeting will be held at Centenary church on the second Sunday in July.

RICHMOND AND MANCHESTER BAPTIST SUN-DAY-SCHOOL ASSOCIATION .- This Association met Sunday evening at the Leigh-Street church-President William Ellyson in the chair. After the usual devotional exercises the following reports for the last month from the schools composing the Association adopted.

Dr. Pollard, the new pastor of LeighStreet church, then addressed the Association in an interesting speech, in which he referred to his experience in associational

He was followed by Rev. Mr. Robert Pitt, pastor of Venable church, who in the course of his remarks deprecated the Sunday excursions, which are becoming so common and which are doing so much to destroy the sanctity of the Sabbath.

Addresses were also made by Rev. Samuel Clopton and Joel B. Watkins; after which the Association adjourned and ended one of its most interesting and pleasant meet-

A Remarkable and Interesting Case.
Curiosity recently led me through the wards of our city institution known as the "Retreat for the Sick," and I saw a case so remarkable, it seemed to me, that I determined to try to find space in your columns to describe it. The affection was a severe case of double hare-lip, which seemed to me to be incurable; but on being told that Dr. John R. Wheat, who had it in charge, was confident of success, I determined to watch the result. The patient, Mr. Charles Payne, had, besides the double hare-lip, a cleft in superior maxillary and palate bones, and this fissare extended through the roof of the mouth, making the nose and mouth one and the same. After the first operation I could see a decided improvement, and since the second, with an obturator, and four front teeth made by Dr. W. Leigh Burton, you can hardly recognize the unfortunate deformity of a month previous. The operation was so perfect a success that the institution ought to value highly the services of such a superintendent.
